

SIZE GUIDE

To find out the precise measure of the finger you want to wear your ring on, best option is to pop in your favorite jewelry store as they have professional and very precise instruments to measure your finger.

Alternatively, we can propose an efficient and easy method to find your exact measure: print the Ring Measurer and find your exact size just by laying a ring you usually wear on it. The circles on the Ring Measurer correspond to the internal diameter of the ring and the number inside each circle identifies the relevant measure.

We suggest you don't measure the size of your finger in the morning right after waking up or after your gym exercise, as fingers might be a little swollen.

HOW TO PRINT

Diameters have to correspond to the real measure so it is very important to keep the proportions. To do that you have to make sure your print scale is on real or 100%, never on "adapt". You can check if the print is correct by using the following scale that should measure exactly 2 centimeters or 1,79 inches.

SIZE GUIDE

Now you can position your ring over the circle and find the right one for you. If you're not sure between two different measures, go for the higher one, considering fingers tend to swell during the day or during the warm season.
